1. Make use of your librarian. Your librarian is here to facilitate your research and can assist you with important aspects of your academic work such as: keeping current by using the latest web resources; using social media for research, scholarly communication and teaching; and managing knowledge using both installed and web-based reference management software. Contact your library to find out who your librarian is.

2. Activate your library account at the circulation desk in any library. Activating your library account allows you to renew books online, request that they be delivered to the University of Manitoba (UM) library of your choice, and access electronic journals and books from off campus.

3. Access the UM Libraries’ many resources by going to umanitoba.ca/libraries. Under the box labeled “Find” there are links to the following:
   - Library catalogue search
   - Specific Articles - Article Linker
   - E-Journals
   - Articles & Databases
   - Course Reserves
   - E-Books

    Looking for a specific article? Find the article you are searching for in our electronic collection by going to umanitoba.ca/libraries. Under the box labeled “Find” click on “Specific Article - Article Linker”.

4. Save yourself a trip. Request material in any UM library delivered to your preferred library for pick up; click on “Request Title or Volume/Issue” from within the Libraries’ catalogue.

5. Need something we don’t have? Order it through Document Delivery. It’s free! Go to umanitoba.ca/libraries Under the box labeled “Services” click on “Document Delivery”.

6. Working off site and can’t come to the library to access our print journals? Click “Send via email” on the GetIt@UML menu or request the article via the Document Delivery link on the Libraries’ webpage and we’ll email you a scanned copy of the article within 3-5 days.

7. Place course-related materials on reserve for your students at umanitoba.ca/libraries. Under the box labeled “Find” click on “Course Reserves”.

8. Securely store and share electronic copies of your research and scholarship in MSpace. Go to mspace.lib. umanitoba.ca/index.jsp for more information.
