2b-11 Psychology (Graduate Courses/Programs)

That the proposal to introduce:

School Psychology Thesis Program Option - following the implementation of the School Psychology program, the department is now proposing a three year thesis program stream.
Students wishing to pursue a Ph.D. in this area generally require the completion of a thesis. Students in the thesis stream will be required to complete the same requirements as non-thesis students with the exception of the comprehensive examinations (required for non-thesis students, in place of formal research). Thesis-track students will take Quantitative Methods 1 and 2, and four School Psychology program courses (to facilitate development of the thesis proposal) in the first year. In addition, they will take a Thesis Development course in the fall term of the second year along with the remainder of the Year 1 fall term School Psychology courses. Thesis track students will be required to complete a thesis proposal by the end of that term. The School Psychology program is a full year program (not limited to only 2 terms per year). Students in the thesis track will be expected to work on the thesis during the spring/summer months.
